Let's crush some debts

Most debt isn't good. Borrowing to create wealth is good, but consumer debt isn't. But we live in a world where it's so easy to access, and it can be a vicious cycle to try and pay this back.

So what we're going to do, is write them down, warts and all. Amounts, interest rates, and when they are due to be repaid.

Then let's sort this by smallest debt to largest, or the highest interest rate to lowest. Logic says pay off the highest interest debt first, but there's nothing quite like the feeling of knocking off a debt, and cutting the card.

Debts	Amount	Interest Rate	Maturity Date